7 signs your car needs immediate service

Below is a list of seven warning signs that may lead to dangerous situations if you continue driving.

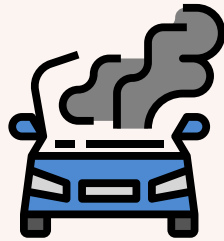

1. Car is hard to start

Common reasons are battery deterioration, ignition system and fuel supply system problem.

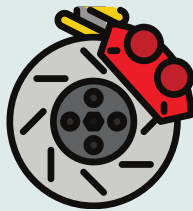

2. Burning smell

Find out where the smell comes from. It is related to the clutch, break, belt and tire.

3. Noise when braking

Brake pad deteriorate over time. It should be changed once you get this sign.

4. The fluid spots under your car

Engine oil, brake fluid, coolant, transmission and power steering fluid are the most common fluids which may leak from the car. Let the technician find the cause and fix it.

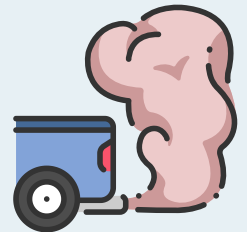

5. Engine shaking

Try to start it again and boost the engine. If the car still shakes and turns off, take it to the workshop for inspection.

6. Black smoke or white smoke from exhaust pipe

It is most often caused by incomplete combustion, engine oil leaking into combustion chamber and loose engine.

7. Engine oil light shows

It might be caused by a low engine oil level, car idling low, short circuits, defective oil pressure sensor, bad bearing, broken engine oil pump.

When these signs alert, please get your car checked immediately.
